Mr. William E. Colby
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, C.C. 20505

Dear Mr. Colby:

House Resolution 591, establishing the Select Committee on Intelligence, directs the committee to report its findings to the House of Representatives, including the committee's recommendations for legislation and administrative reforms.

The hearings and investigations of the committee will provide much of the basis for these recommendations. But the committee is also anxious to consider the advice and recommendations of government officials, as well as private citizens, whose position and experience give them a special appreciation of United States intelligence agencies and activities.

The committee would welcome your views and those of your agency concerning the future of the intelligence community and the possible recommendations the committee may consider. Because of the limited time available to the committee, we would appreciate receiving your comments and suggestions as soon as possible.

Sincerely yours,

Otis G. Pike
